*"To the village square we must carry the facts of atomic energy;
from there must come America's voice." – Albert Einstein, 1946*

To the Village Square is about power; not just nuclear power but... the power of community to force action and make a change. This book is an homage to the power of democracy in pursuit of a safe and clean environment for all.

"Images, specifically photographic images, can change the world. By revealing the power of direct citizen action, Delevingne's photographs manifest the spirit of social movement and inspire future generations to take action to protect their communities."

– Rex Weyler, Greenpeace International co-founder
